How a safe, clean school environment can improve pass rates

Qwa Qwa Combined School is located in Theosane, Phuthaditjhaba, and caters for over 600 learners, of which 40 are in Grade R. The road that the learners cross to get to and from the school carries heavy traffic. In the past, learners have been victims of road accidents. To address this, the school management requested the CWP to assist by providing participants to work as scholar patrols, helping learners to cross the road safely in the mornings and afternoons. As well as the scholar patrol service, CWP participants also ensure that the area around the school is kept clean and free of rubbish.

Since the CWP began to assist the school, there have been no road accidents involving learners. According to the school principal, the effect of that, as well as of the clean environment, is that the children are more focused on learning and so the pass rate has improved. .

Dear Sir /Madam

The above -mentioned school wishes to take this opportunity to thank and appreciate a wonderful service rendered by the CWP members.
Since their arrival, the following changes have been realised:
Cleanliness of our surroundings, safety at our patrols and no accidents reported.
An increase in the pass rate as a result of learners focusing on learning, rather than other things.

The four patrollers are hard-workers, as they are always there under various weather conditions

We can be very glad if they can continue helping.

Thank you
Yours faithfully

Lehlakola M.P. (Principal)
